WHAT WE DO

The Clean Energy Council is the peak body for the clean energy industry in Australia. We represent and work with hundreds of leading businesses operating in solar, wind, energy efficiency, hydro, bioenergy, energy storage, geothermal and marine along with more than 4000 solar installers.

We are committed to accelerating the transformation of Australia's energy system to one that is smarter and cleaner.

We stand up for the clean energy sector and develop supportive policies in collaboration with local, state and federal governments to solve the technical, political and financial challenges faced by our industry.

WHAT YOU GET AS A CLEAN ENERGY COUNCIL MEMBER

SUPPORTIVE POLICY

We work with our members to develop supportive policies that encourage more clean energy and provide solutions to complex policy problems for governments.

SMART ADVOCACY

Our strong relationships with all major political parties at the local, state and federal level mean we can provide opportunities for our members to engage directly with the decision-makers who matter.

A STRONG PUBLIC VOICE

With the help of our members we run promotional campaigns and regular events. We are the voice of the clean energy industry in the media. We produce reports and analysis on all the latest industry trends and communicate these to government.

RAISING STANDARDS

We're serious about raising standards across all parts of the industry. We run a national accreditation scheme for solar installers, develop best practice guidelines and codes of conduct, help develop Australian Standards, and produce guides to assist the industry and consumers.

GET THE LATEST INSIGHTS

We run events to help you network and gain insights from business leaders and the latest research and analysis. We give you up-to-the-minute news and analysis on breaking events and what they mean for your business. We tell the good news story of our industry and provide you with strategic advice if bad news comes knocking.

The Clean Energy Council website (cleanenergycouncil.org.au) attracts clean energy companies, financiers and government decision-makers, as well as consumers and students looking for the latest and most comprehensive updates in the sector.

The Solar Accreditation website (solaraccreditation.com.au) attracts Clean Energy Council-accredited installers and electricians, as well as government representatives, solar businesses and consumers thinking of going solar.

Clean Energy Council members enjoy discounted advertising on these websites, as well as reduced rates for advertising jobs on our careers page. Contact the Communications Team to discuss your advertising needs at media@cleanenergycouncil.org.au or on 03 9929 4117.

SAVINGS ON MEDIA MONITORING

Monitoring the media is vital for any business to stay up-to-date with the latest news on government decisions, policy changes and community attitudes. Timely and first-hand access to media reports helps you frame effective communications and stakeholder relations strategies to keep your business on the front foot.

Under normal circumstances, the cost of media monitoring varies from month to month, depending on how much news is being generated. However, Clean Energy Council members are eligible to access our media monitoring for a set price per month – saving thousands of dollars on costs.

Two options are available:

Premium - $750/month

Includes a daily summary and full copies of relevant media clips, full access to the personalised iSentia media portal and an ability to request the monitoring of specific key words.

Standard - $200/month

Includes the Clean Energy Council press briefing (summary and full copies of relevant media clips) delivered to your email address Monday to Friday at 6.45am.

For further information or to sign up for this offer, please contact Clean Energy Council Media Manager Mark Bretherton at mbretherton@cleanenergycouncil.org.au or on 03 9929 4111.
